92nd Commencement Held

The 92nd commencement was held the weekend of May 19 to 21 at Campion. On Friday evening the Alumni Association sponsored a party for the seniors, a welcome into the association.

Baccalaureate and Mass were held in the chapel at 8:15 p.m. Saturday evening. The homily was given by the Reverend Gregory F. Lucey, S.J., President of Campion. A reception for the graduates and their guests followed.

On Sunday at 9:00 a.m. 107 seniors received their diplomas. The presentation of awards and scholarships was made by Mr. John G. Boor, Principal. The Valedictorian for the class of 1972 is Daniel Kane; Salutatorian is Thomas O'Brien. Other awards given were: the Bausch and Lomb Scientific award to John Larson; the Literary award to Mark Waickman and Daniel Roseliep, editors of the Knight; the Bishop's Medal to Ronald Lauterbach; the President's award to Thomas Burke; the American Legion award to Glen Allen; the Fr. Stokes' award to Mark Otteson; the Gold Medal award to Kevin Havlik; the Eagles award to Howard Eugene Brooks; The National "W" Club of the University of Wisconsin award to Ronald Lauterbach; and the Bellarmine award to Michael Janik.

Giving Tops $134,000 With One Month to Go

As of May 31, total gifts to Campion this year pushed to $134,776. This includes major gifts of $17,663. The parents division still sets the pace with gifts of $55,778 from 165 parents.

Alumni giving is running slightly behind last year. However it will increase sharply in June, when the alumni return to Campion for the annual reunions and when the pledges from the first Alumni Telethon come in.

The local effort of the Annual Fund is scheduled for June 1 through 21. Ed Farrell and Phil Dagnon '59 have volunteered their services as co-chairmen for the local drive. With the help of twenty-one volunteer workers, they will personally see over one hundred businessmen in the area. They expressed confidence that the local drive will meet or exceed the set goal of $10,000.

NBC's Chronolog to Include Campion June 23

An NBC television crew, under the direction of Peter Jeffries, spent Thursday, Mar. 2, at Campion interviewing faculty and students on reasons behind the discontinuance of the Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC).

Jeffries is a producer of NBC's television program Chronolog, which is telecast the 4th Friday of each month. The program which will include Campion is expected to be televised June 23.

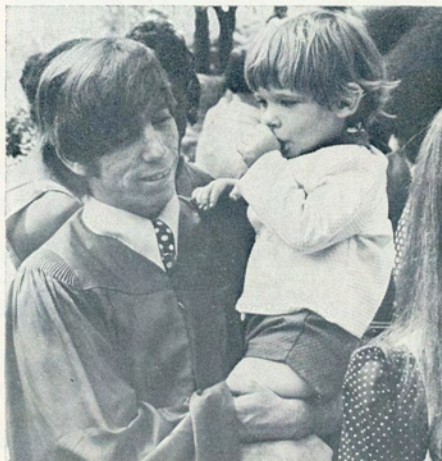

Jeffries interviewed Fr. Gregory F. Lucey, S.J., Campion President, during which a 45 minute interview was filmed. Fr. James O'Connor, S.J., a member of the Campion faculty for 13½ years was also interviewed. Kevin Havlik, Kevin Trehey, Mark Leonhart and Michael Curoe were among the students interviewed.

The Chronolog program will research Junior ROTC programs in high schools throughout the nation. Jeffries noted that Congress is spending about $14 million a year on Junior ROTC. One of the questions the show will ask is "should the military be involved in the education of youth?"

Jeffries selected Campion from a list of schools he received from the Army, designating which schools have dropped the program and the reasons why. The Army report listed Campion's reason as a "change in ideology" and that interested him.

ROTC was discontinued at Campion at the close of the 1970-71 school year.

Drama Students Present Midsummer Night's Dream

Doug Foxgrover as Oberon and Mike Stumm as Puck.

Despite dark prophecies to the contrary, "Midsummer Night's Dream" was an esthetic, if not financial, success. The Campion Drama students decided that they wanted something classical under their belts for the spring semester and this comedy by Shakespeare was their choice. Due to lack of females it was decided to go back to the original Shakespearian concept of an all-male cast, and to perform it on the grounds of Campion.

Special praise must go to those students who took the parts of females in the play. It took courage and perseverance to spend the semester in a skirt, but it was accomplished with élan by Mark Leonhart, Randy Hayes, John Udovc, Ed Egan and John Seery. A mention, too, must go to the excellent Abbott and Costello team of Oberon and Puck, played by Doug Foxgrover and Mike Stumm, and of course, to Roland Winkler, an extremely comic "Bottom." The Male Lovers and the Artisans gave comic relief between Fairy quarrels, and Joe Schrandt gave comic relief to the cast behind the scenes. Joe had to spend his time behind the stage making lightening costume changes from the role of Duke of Athens to that of a fairy called Peaseblossom and back again. A memorable first night happening occurred when Joe walked on with his Duke's costume upside down, revealing a large expanse of leg. He managed his speech with a great deal more aplomb than the Director experienced at the time. The production was ably directed by Mrs. Alice Krahn.

Spring Luncheons Held—New Officers Elected

Spring luncheons were held by both the Milwaukee Parents' Club and the Chicago Mothers' and Fathers' Clubs in April. A new slate of officers was announced at both occasions.

The Milwaukee mothers gathered at the Simon House April 15. Mr. John Boor, Principal at Campion, spoke to the mothers and answered questions. Mrs. J. Gadzik, president, announced the 1972-73 slate of officers: Mrs. J. Gadzik, President; Mrs. Eugene Schulte, vice-president; Mrs. William Stoner, secretary; and Mrs. Leroy Depies, treasurer.

Representing Campion along with Mr. Boor were: Fr. Gregory Lucey, S.J., President, Mr. Joseph O'Neill, Director of External Affairs, and Irene Boor. Other guests included Brother Robert Daley, and Mrs. J. P. Hayes and Mrs. J. Chester from the Chicago Mothers' Club.

Some 75 parents attended the Chicago luncheon at the Sherman Hotel Apr. 16. Representing Campion, and speaking to the parents, were: Fr. Gregory Lucey, Mr. Joseph O'Neill, Mr. Fred Gates, Mr. Ron Shipley, Mr. Tom Roach, Mr. Clem Steele, and Fr. William Kidd, S.J.

Mrs. J. P. Hayes, president of the Mothers' Club, announced the 1972-73 slate of officers: Mrs. J. P. Hayes, president; Mrs. Paul F. Elward, Mrs. Guido D. Lenardo and Mrs. Thomas F. Leyden, vice-presidents; Mrs. Edward G. Jassak, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John P. O'Brien, recording secretary; and Mrs. Jack R. Chester, treasurer.

Mr. Frank E. Seery replaces Mr. John R. Casey as president of the Fathers' Club.

Gifts From Parents' Clubs

On Mother's Day weekend at Campion, May 5-7, the Chicago Mothers' Club and the Milwaukee Parents' Club presented Campion with checks for the 1971-72 Annual Giving Program.

At the Parents Party Saturday evening Father Lucey was presented with a check for $8,000 by the Chicago Mothers' Club outgoing president, Mrs. R. Hayes. The Milwaukee Parents' Club president, Mrs. J. Gadzik, also presented Fr. Lucey with a check.

Earlier in the year the Prairie du Chien Parents' Club gave Campion a check in the amount of $1,000. Campion owes a great deal to the loyal support of its parents' clubs.

Testimonial Dinner Honors Father Lucey

Father Gregory Lucey, S.J., was honored recently at a testimonial dinner given by a group of Campion fathers from the Chicago area. It was a token of thanks for his efforts to develop Campion and a word of encouragement to continue those efforts.

In a brief speech after the dinner, Mr. Jack Casey, retiring president of the Chicago Fathers' Club, expressed the appreciation of the parents for the outstanding job Father Lucey is doing as President. William Janik then presented him with a new travel bag.

The dinner, held at the Cypress Restaurant in Hinsdale, Ill., was organized by Jack Casey and Vincent Angeleri.

gious Education. He is active in many civic and professional groups.

Replacing Fr. William Sullivan as chairman is Mr. Thomas P. McErlean, a member of the Board since May of 1971. Mr. McErlean has been president of Mac Supply Company for the past 10 years.

Mrs. Dorothy Betlach, a member of the Board since Nov. 1970, replaces vice-chairman Robert J. Beh. Mrs. Betlach the mother of four children, received her medical degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Resigning from the Board after years of dedicated service, are: Mr. G. C. Lucey, Dr. Thomas Farrell, M.D., Rev. William J. Sullivan, S.J., Mr. James E. Asmuth, and Mr. D. W. Bergstrom, Harold E. Voss and Rev. Jack Zuercher, S.J.

Mrs. J. Gadzik, president, introduced guests and new officers at the Milwaukee Mothers' Club Luncheon. To her left is Brother Daley and to her right Fr. Gregory F. Lucey, president.

HOMILY FOR THE 92ND BACCALAUREATE CEREMONY

Gregory F. Lucey, S.J.

Welcome to all the parents and friends of the Class of 1972 to this, the ninety-second baccalaureate ceremony at Campion. We are very happy you are here. Congratulations to you for the effort each of you has made to make possible the graduation of one of these young men. I know as well as anyone the sacrifice you have made for the education of your sons.

I wish also to thank publicly the members of my staff and the teaching faculty for the tireless effort that they have put forth throughout this year. Thank you.

You, the graduates of 1972, are very much involved in the moment, the now, next week and perhaps next fall but after that the future is an unknown mist that awaits you — let's skip ahead down the road twenty years. It's Friday evening, June 17, 1992, an evening much like this. You and your wife have just arrived on campus for your twentieth reunion. You have only been here once in those twenty years. Some of you will not have seen each other from this day to that. You will hear of those who died; those who made it big; those who have had very hard days. You will be surprised at the changes here at Campion, that one of your number now sits in my chair.

But the greatest surprise of all will come as you listen to each other. Some will think as you do, with concern for the same issues in touch with the same reality, the world in 1992. But of others you will ask, "Where has he been? Have we not both lived in the same world, even perhaps the same city?"

He will not have lived in the same world. He will have defined or himself a world, warm and safe, with little conflict. He will have set around himself a wall of tinted glass which keeps from his citadel of comfort the harsher realities of life that challenges his pattern of thought, his mode of life.

We all have a tendency to build our own world by labeling, categorizing people, ideas, facts; we put them out of our realm, write them off, as not worthy of further consideration. We are fearful of taking an open stance of being vulnerable to the whole of reality. Much as a retarded adult seeks the easy association of those of his mental ability, though he be twice their age, we tend to limit our world to those of our set. If we are accustomed to look at life through the plate glass window of our home on the hill, we will feel most at ease in that world. As a Catholic we are more comfortable with Catholics, they won't question us on our beliefs. As a member of the country club set, we are safe from the hard reality of ghetto poverty. As a military man we find much affirmation for our work at the officers club; as a pacifist we are unchallenged in our retreat. Whatever our age, we are most comfortable, with our peers rather than the young or the aged. As a liberal political thinker we find support in the New Republic; we never look at the National Review. As a white we are at ease in the lily-white suburbs. As a Black we are comfortable in the Black Community.

Twenty years from now any two of you, as close as you may be today, will be in two totally different worlds if you each carve out your own comfortable little world.

I urge you instead to make yourselves truly vulnerable to all of reality, all of life, all options, all people. Let all of reality beat against your psyche; let all reality force you to take it into account. Have the confidence in your self, have sufficient faith, yes faith, in other men, in life, in all of reality to listen, ponder, accept.

If you do this your life will not be comfortable — a warm, cosy, undisturbed womb — you will be constantly forced to re-think, to question your presuppositions, to struggle deep within yourself over the hard decisions of life.

I hear you cry out for freedom: and free you should be — you were made to be free; not with the freedom of license, you were not made to do as you please without regard for the needs or rights of your fellowman. You were made for the true freedom, the freedom that comes only through the painful struggle of decision. Only the man who has weighed the options, only the man that has been sick with fear, only the man who has felt his stomach knot up, only he who has made a decision for himself is free.

He has crashed the barriers of his mind set; he has confronted his prejudices; questioned his presuppositions; he has shattered the trappings of religion, of family and respectability that unwittingly closes off the full range of options.

Only if you stand open, vulnerable to all reality, ready to bear the searing pain of decision will you be in twenty years a truly free man.

In the gospel today we find a group of men in the safety of the upper room with the doors bolted. They were experiencing deep disappointment in the utter failure of their leader, a depressing sense of loss in his senseless death; a paralyzing fear that they too might die a violent death — all but one eventually did.

Jesus stood in their midst; He wished them peace, commissioned them to carry out His mission of peace, offered with them His spirit, His freedom.

Fifty days later, on the Jewish feast of Pentecost, it was as though they were all struck with lightning in a storm; the whole house shook. To a man they went forth with a selfconfidence they had never known, freed from all fear, with a wisdom and a vision of life that spoke to men of every nation, breaking even the language barrier.

Traditionally we have seen this as an instantaneous, miraculous change; depressed, fearful fishermen suddenly set out to change the hearts of every man.

I would rather think it was a slow, painful process. For fifty days these men struggled with all that the man Jesus had said.

Tennis Squad Places 5th in Final Competition

The tennis season of 1972, that opened with 2-mile daily jogs amidst the snow and slush of Monday, Mar. 13, promised to close brightly in the warm sun of Oshkosh on Friday, May 19. Champion players had traveled more widely than any school in the state, and had experienced some of the best competition that Wisconsin had to offer. Besides meeting teams in Minnesota and Iowa, Champion had played in Green Bay, Milwaukee, Janesville as well as in Southwestern Wisconsin. And so, as the WISAA state tournament began that Friday morning in Oshkosh, despite a season dual record of 7 wins and 8 losses, Champion boys and coaches knew that they were real contenders for the state crown.

Of the 30 boys who had begun the tennis season, 19 had persevered through rather strenuous practices and matches. Three of the juniors, Bill Edwards, Dave Stastny, and George Marron were to win monograms during regular season. Six enthusiastic sophomores (Mark Lyden, Mark Gomez, Jim Guiang, Denny Mueller, Joe Waickman, and Scott Pastrick) had helped substantially to defeat 4 opposing varsities as well as to push the boys immediately above them on the tennis ladder. Freshman George Kramer had persistently climbed up the ranking ladder from 16th to 7th place, and his classmates (Mike Brennan, John Walsh, Chris Otto, and Tim Cordes) had improved remarkably during the season.

At a quadrangular meet in Janesville, Champion managed to take second, losing to Craig and defeating Guilford of Rockford, Ill., and Greenfield of Milwaukee. In Green Bay, Wis., at the Pennings Invitational Tourney the team of Captain Chris Braun and Bill Ryan took away the doubles championship, while the team as a whole placed third in a field of 10 schools. A week later the same team of Stastny, Edwards, Ryan and Braun placed second in the CWCC conference tournament, Ryan and Braun capturing the Doubles Championship and Edwards and Stastny placing third in 1st and 2nd singles divisions respectively.

At the state tournament Champion won the school crown in 1970 and placed third in 1969 and 1971. The Champion team of Chris Braun and John Stanhaus had won the Doubles Championship in 1970 and were runners up in 1971. Champion's John Schrup took the state 1st singles crown in 1971. This year, 1972, Chris Braun was back with a teammate that formed the best doubles team Champion has probably ever had.

At the end of the first three rounds Bill Edwards was able to retire until Saturday morning for the semi-finals matches. Dave Stastny too had done well, winning his first but losing his second round match. Meeting the doubles team from Waukesha Memorial, whom they had already defeated cleanly earlier in the season, Bill and Chris succumbed; losing the first set, winning the second, and losing a frazzled third set. Finished, no consolation bracket, Bill and Chris disconsolately lay on the grass and watched teammate Bill Edwards advance through the quarter-finals. Bill eventually took third place in his division. So Champion placed 5th, not 1st, this year, 5th out of 31 competing schools.

Seven Golfers Earn Varsity Letters

Champion's golf team finished with a record of 3-4 in dual meets. They placed fifth in the Pio Nono Invitational May 2 with 13 teams participating and fifth in the WISAA Region I with 8 teams participating.

Letter winners were: seniors Charlie Gore, John Stapleton and Bob Mack; juniors Jeff Turner and Jim Bowman; sophomore Tim Turner; and freshman Mark Hagenbach.

Track Team Finishes On Winning Note

The Champion track team finished its regular season with a quadrangular win over Waukon, LaCrescent and Caladonia on May 16. Dave Betlach, Mark Otteson and Bill Newton qualified for the state meet. Dave, a sophomore, could be one of the most outstanding track men ever at Champion. He scored 130 points for the season. He runs the high and low hurdles, high jumps and long jumps. Mark Otteson, the team captain, was beaten only once in the open mile in 16 runnings this year.

Literary Magazine Funded Five Receive Awards

This year a senior from Prairie High, Barb Herreid, was a member of a writing group at Champion. As a member of the group she had produced over 20 poems and one short story. On February 26, Barb was killed in a tragic car accident. Because her parents felt she had gained so much in her contact with Champion, they left a gift for funding a literary magazine (Champion's BRAG), and five writing awards. One of the seniors, Frank Raterman, drew a picture of Barb to go with two of her poems which speak of her journey through suffering (an earlier car accident and a bad summer) to a mountain top and daisies. Another senior, Larry Dunn, did the layout and design for the plaque, black silk screen on brass with a walnut mounting. One plaque will be with the Herreid family, another in the Champion lobby, and the remaining were presented to the winners of this year's writing contest. In poetry Fred Clark took first place and Gene Stender second. Steve Dodds won first place in essay and Peter Haas second place. In short story Mark Ewald won first place for his story "Spring in the Sixth Grade." Sara Rath, poet and author of Whatever Happened to Fats Domino, judged the contest.

Another senior, Bill Murray, published his poem "Sideways Sliding" in Typog, a national magazine of student writing.

Champion's baseball team ended up with a 6-8 record in its first year as part of the conference. Mr. Cyril DesRocher coached the team.

Weddings

Robert Barmann '53 and Vicki New exchanged nuptial vows on May 27, 1972, at St. Francis Xavier Church, Kansas City, Mo. The couple can be reached at: 5135 Chouteau Trafficway No. 323, Kansas City, Mo.

Thomas Greif, the bachelor of the class of '60 finally took the step and was married on Lincoln's birthday. It was a splashing event with the reception held at the Yacht Club. Among the guests was Father Jakubek, S. J.

Tom's new bride was the former Sandy Schwanke from Sheboygan. She is a registered nurse at Milwaukee General Hospital. Tom attended Marquette U. for a few years and then enlisted in the army; spent three years in Germany. On his return he attended Wisconsin University at Whitewater and graduated from the school of business administration. He is now associated with the Tekra Corporation and resides at: 2845 Sherman Blvd., Milwaukee, Wis. The couple just returned from their wedding trip to a skiing resort in Aspen, Colo. Tom tells us the TEKRA Company is a distributor company in Milwaukee.

Homily

Happy are the poor in spirit
 Happy are the gentle
 Happy are those who mourn
 Happy are those who hunger and thirst for what is right
 Happy the merciful
 Happy the single minded
 Happy the peacemakers Happy are those who are persecuted in the cause of right
 "I am the Bread of Life"
 "Whoever believes in me will never die."

They ponder the events of his life.
 his life giving concern his reverence and respect for life his washing of their feet his death.

They ponder his return to them.

"Peace be with you."

"As the Father has sent me so I send you."

"Receive the Holy Spirit."

He stood in their midst a challenge that they face reality, that they become free men. After much reflection, much fear of the consequences — they opened themselves to the spirit and knew his freedom, the freedom of Jesus Christ.

They saw in him a man free of all vested interest, unshackled from the legalism of his tradition, freed from the false nationalism and prejudice; a man single-minded in his mission that all men should share the fullness of life.

To this man they fully and freely committed themselves as they went forth fearlessly, they were read as drunk, madmen — each in his turn, with one exception, gave his life for this cause.

Campion has been, for you young men of the Class of 1972, an upper room where you have spent, not fifty days, but four years.

It has been a place of warmth and safety, a womb.

You have had some responsibility, but limited.

You have had an atmosphere which allows you to make a mistake and begin anew.

You have come to some awareness of problems of our society without experience the full brunt of war, racism or poverty.

It has been a time of growth and joy, you have developed your skills, your knowledge.

You have built friendships you will never lose. It has been a time of pain and suffering.

There was the separation from family and friends.

The separation from the things of a child.

There was the depression, disappointment and fear of adolescence.

There was the pain of racial strife and violence.

We, as your parents before us, have tried, in spite of our own weaknesses and lack of total commitment, to stand in your presence as Jesus stood amidst his disciples. We have tried to speak in work and word his message, we have tried to bring you to a fuller life, a greater freedom, a true peace.

It is my hope that in some degree this day is truly a pentecost for you, not an instantaneous conversion but that during your days here you have stood face to face with the challenge that is Jesus. That in some degree you have opened yourselves to all of reality and committed yourself with the freedom that is yours to this man — to His freedom, His respect for life, for you and for your brother.

My prayer for you is that your love may more and more abound both in understanding and wealth of experience, so that with a clear conscience and blameless conduct you may learn to value the things that really matter, up to the day of Christ.
